STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. KENNEDY (for himself, Mr. DODD, Mr. BINGAMAN, Mrs. MURRAY, Mr. REED, Mrs. CLINTON, and Ms. MIKULSKI):

S. 371. A bill to provide for college quality, affordability, and diversity, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, it should be our common purpose to extend the promise of a quality education to all from birth through college. The strength, security, and future of our Nation lie in the education and character of our people.

Every student with the talent, desire, and drive to go to college should be able to go to college, unimpeded by inability to pay.

Jobs requiring post-secondary education are expected to account for over 40 percent of total job growth over the next decade. Workers with a bachelor's degree earn $1 million more over a lifetime than workers without a degree.

But only 40 percent of whites, 30 percent of African Americans, and 16 percent of Latinos age 18 to 24 attend college. Just as unsettling, is that over 40 percent of those who do attend college fail to earn a bachelor's degree within 6 years of their initial enrollment, and for minorities the percentage is far worse.

We have to do more to help qualified students attend and finish college unburdened by crushing debt, and we must do more to help colleges train more and better teachers so that future college students are better prepared.

Today, along with Democratic colleagues on the Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee, I am introducing the College Quality, Affordability, and Diversity Improvement, QUAD, Act of 2005 to highlight our proposals to extend college opportunity.

First and foremost, our bill helps more needy and middle class students be able to attend college. It increases the maximum Pell grant by $1,000 next year in order to keep pace with tuition increases. It doubles the maximum Hope Scholarship Tax Credit, makes it available for 4 years of education instead of the current 2, and makes it refundable.

Our bill helps alleviate student debt burden by eliminating origination fees on subsidized loans. It enables over 5 million borrowers with consolidated loans to refinance their loans just as they would a home mortgage to take advantage of lower interest rates.

Our bill provides a new incentive to colleges to go into the Direct Loan program. The Direct Loan program saves the government and taxpayers money—11 cents on every dollar lent, according to the President's latest budget and Congressional Budget Office estimates. Under this bill, no one is forced into the Direct Loan program, but colleges in that cost-efficient program will get more funding dedicated to helping needy students. If private lenders are inspired to match or beat Direct Loan program associated benefits with their "school as lender" program, so be it. Either way, this proposal is a win for colleges, students and taxpayers.

Our bill provides increased support for minority and first-generation college students through increased funding for successful programs such as TRIO and GEAR Up, as well as support for minority-serving institutions. It also creates a new program to help ensure poor and minority students stay in and finish college.

To help meet our goal under No Child Left Behind to ensure a qualified teacher in every classroom, the bill expands and strengthens programs to recruit, train, and retain highly qualified teachers, paraprofessionals, principals, and superintendents.

Because of the high costs of higher education for everyone, and because each individual's private interest in a college education is in our common interest, our bill works to help both low-income and hard-pressed middle income families send their children to college and graduate.

I hope the majority will look carefully at all the proposals contained in this legislation to see where we can find common ground.

We should all commit that cost will never be a barrier to a college degree.

Just as Social Security is a promise to senior citizens, we should make "education security" a promise to every young American. If you work hard, if you finish high school, if you are admitted to a college, we will guarantee that you can afford the cost of college education.

That should be a goal we can all agree on.

By Mr. LEAHY (for himself, Mr. BENNETT, Mr. BINGAMAN, Ms. CANTWELL, Mr. COCHRAN, Mr. CONRAD, Mr. DODD, Mr. DURBIN, Mr. JEFFORDS, Mr. KENNEDY, Mr. KERRY, Mr. LIEBERMAN, Mr. LUGAR, Mr. STEVENS, and Mr. WARNER):

S. 372. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide that a deduction equal to fair market value shall be allowed for charitable contributions of literary, musical, artistic, or scholarly compositions created by the donor; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I rise today again with Senator BENNETT to introduce the "Artist-Museum Partnership Act." This bipartisan legislation will enable our country to keep cherished art works in the United States and to preserve them in our public institutions, while erasing an inequity in our tax code that currently serves as a disincentive for artists to donate their works to museums and libraries. This is the same bill we introduced the past three Congresses. It was also included in the Senate-passed version of the President's 2001 tax cut bill, and in the Senate-passed version of the 2003 Charity Aid, Recovery, and Empowerment, CARE, Act. I would like to thank Senators BINGAMAN, CANTWELL, COCHRAN, CONRAD, DODD, DURBIN, JEFFORDS, KENNEDY, KERRY, LIEBERMAN, LUGAR, STEVENS and WARNER for cosponsoring this bipartisan bill.

Our bill is sensible and straightforward. It would allow artists, writers, and composers who donate works to museums and libraries to take a tax deduction equal to the fair market value of the work. This is something that collectors who make similar donations are already able to do. Under current law, artists who donate self-created works are only able to deduct the cost of supplies such as canvas, pen, paper and ink, which does not even come close to their true value. This is unfair to artists and it hurts museums and libraries—large and small—that are dedicated to preserving works for posterity. If we as a nation want to ensure that art works created by living artists are available to the public in the future—for study or for pleasure—this is something that artists should be allowed to do.

In my State of Vermont, we are incredibly proud of the great works produced by hundreds of local artists who choose to live and work in the Green Mountain State. Displaying their creations in museums and libraries helps
